LOOK'X

MARCH & APRIL 2024

ED 97029A
MESSAGE

"If you want to be the best,

You have to do things other people aren't dare to do."

This edition of "LOOK'X", has our special celebration of the Graduation Ceremony of KG children. Kindergarten graduation is an exciting milestone for pre-primary children as it's their first step towards a future full of hopes and possibilities. It marks a new beginning that adds new dimensions to their school life and the journey they begin towards knowledge and education.

Photographs play an important role in everyone's lives because they allow us to keep in touch with the past and bring back fond memories of special times, people and places. Yes, the class photos are in which best friends, favourite teachers and so much more are represented. It's fun to display at home and boosts school pride. In addition, when parents and students look back years from now, they're sure to enjoy not only seeing how they look, but how everyone else does as well. In this edition we have the beautiful memories of the class photos of this academic year.

"Celebrate endings — for they precede new beginnings"

As we enter into summer vacation let's utilize our time for making memories, trying new things, and embracing new experiences that enrich our life. It is the perfect time for everyone to spend time together and to regroup from the stress that is often experienced with everyday life." Wish you all happy holidays!!!!

Principal's Message

The summer vacation extols in your mind relieving all tensions, anxieties and exam fears. It is the time given by the natural seasons to evade from regular to be special in different and interested ways. This summer is also heading for a dramatic exposition of democratic politics in India. The leaders are airing their yell to safeguard the ethos and values of Indian Democracy. School is the cross section of the society where we learn, live, and grow together becoming the leaders of tomorrow. You may watch the process of Indian democratic system. The stronger nation is possible with the genuine charismatic leaderships who can take up the task of economic growth, political stability, social, religious and cultural harmony.

Guarantees, warranties, promises, manifestoes, should not be mere words of political uttering but the realistic aspirations of the common people. The candidates are ready to bear the heat of the summer, plead in front of the door step; bow in front of the voter must be to elevate the people. This electoral process in every five years should be a responsible act to find out the fitting person representing the needs of the people than upholding the political rivalry and side-lining the basic responsibility to safeguard the local needs. Now every voter has the mandate to choose the best person to the temple of democracy. The political ideologies should not overpower and divide the people based on culture, language, region or religion. The Indian democracy can exist only with multi political dimensions. Exclusive attitude may sabotage freedom and democracy.

The road shows, processions, political gatherings, house to house and door to door canvassing all are making the election an occasion to meet the people and to know their feedbacks. Millions of money is being spent to the cost of the election. Breaking the election norms and restrictions spending lavishly showing the money power is not the real spirit of democratic election. The flying squad capturing unaccounted money is not a sign of fair election. Cash for vote is killing the very spirit of democracy.

The long election period till next June will consume the entire summer vacation. The year 2024 is going to be marked in the political calendar as a history to enthrone another democratic government at the capital. Let us wish and pray that India will be more united and stronger with her democratic ideals.

Happy holidays....

Hurraih, Hurraih....

Happy holiday.....

Hurraih, Hurraih....

Happy holiday.....

Lines of a song came to my mind as I started penning the following few lines on holidays. After tiresome exams and home works, now it is time for rest and relaxation and enjoyment. Holidays started.

Bible says " There is time for everything". Time for studies, time for relaxation. Let us utilize this God-given chance for refreshing our mind and body. My first suggestion is that you make a vacation plan for these two months. Write down all you want to do to refresh yourself. It may include a picnic with your parents, visiting your loving grandparents who are really waiting to see you, your dear friends in the country side, visiting temples etc.

Coming back, at home, request your mom to prepare nice dish to share with your dear parents, and to satisfy the variety of taste buds in the mouth, enjoy your favourite movies, but do not forget to allot some time to develop our God- given talents in music, dance, musical instruments, ball games, swimming etc... A lot of opportunities are given locally, even in our school. I strongly believe that God has given us talents and it is our responsibility to find them and develop them. Thus through the programs, you will refresh your relationship with God, your parents, friends and others in the society and not the least remembering to love nature.

Let me finish this with a story of a small beautiful butterfly who loved the flame of the forest. One evening the butterfly saw a small flame in the far away hills. So it came to its mother and said "Mom, I saw a beautiful Flame in the far away forest. It's so nice". Mother explained her about the fires in the forest. "Dear daughter, during summer, due to overheat, there may be fires. As you said, it is beautiful to look at it from far away. But dangerous to go near." And she advised her not to go nearer to the flame .She warned her... "Oh dear, our wings are so feeble and even if we want to come back, it may not be possible, because the fire in the flame will consume, our wings". The daughter agreed. But that did not quench her thirst to see the Flame of Forest. She wanted to see it. So one day she went to see the flame. Her attraction to the flame was irresistible. She went nearer and nearer. As the heat increased she wanted to turn back, but alas, her beautiful wings were slowly, already consumed by the Flame. She cried for help, but the engulfing flame embraced her and she became part of Flame.

D. H. Laurence in his novel, "Women in Love" speaks about love with the above illustration. Love is so powerful and passionate. Love is wonderful. God created us to love, but as we go beyond the boundaries, sometimes the fate of butterflies may happen to us. So let us enjoy the vacation under the guidance of our dear parents. We will have the blessings from God. Happy holidays.

Impact on Social Media Platform

The dramatic growth of the internet has played an essential role in shaping the impact of social media. With 4.2 billion active users globally, it is now a part of our everyday life. It clearly demonstrates that no brand or company can avoid having its share of presence in the social landscape. The influence of social media is being used in shaping businesses, careers, education, and more. While there are significant positive impacts, others have negatively affected things in our lives.

Positive Aspects of Social Media

Direct connection with the audience is the best way of improving the overall business. Social media can be utilized by businesses to acquire data, boost demand, and create specialized product offerings. By utilizing the power of social networks, businesses can now reach a wider audience, better understand their customers, and strengthen their relationships.

Social media can make it simple to find communities of individuals who share your interests or meet new people. Finding a close group of people might make us feel necessary and welcome. Social networking is a simple way to maintain connections with relatives and friends who have moved away. It helps us to communicate, send messages, post pictures, make calls, or conduct video chats. Social networking has helped people develop various talents and careers. Online education is greatly expanding, making it possible for people to acquire new skills and create successful careers quickly. Social media has increased the number of people participating in distance learning and the demand for academic services like writing services.

Social media has significantly impacted politics. These days, most people get their news through them, sometimes even before the traditional media do. This medium is the simplest way to access political and other news. Users have the chance to express their political concerns on these online platforms and ask political figures to take action. It is also where massive political protests, campaigns, and even political unrest are most visibly felt. Social networking has dramatically impacted job recruitment. Most companies base their hiring decisions on a candidate's social network presence. Recruiters also post job openings on digital boards to identify the best candidates. Additionally, it has made it simpler for job seekers to obtain job postings. This is clear on services like LinkedIn, where job hunters can create a profile with a list of their qualifications and view the openings recruiters offer. Most of the hiring managers base their decisions on information from social media. According to numerous studies, creating social networks at work helps enhance information exchange. Processes for project management are improved as a result, and specialized knowledge may be exchanged. When social technologies are fully used, workplace boundaries are eliminated. This enhances communication and aids in the growth of a more highly skilled and knowledgeable workforce.

Negative Aspects of Social Media

Since social media is a relatively new technology, no research has been done to determine whether utilizing it might have favourable or unfavourable long-term effects. But numerous studies have found a strong link between using social media excessively and an increased risk of anxiety, depression, loneliness, and even suicidal thoughts. Even though FOMO (fear of missing out) has existed for far longer than social media, apps like Facebook and Instagram tend to make it worse so that you think others are more fun or have a better life than you do. Your self-esteem may suffer, you may experience anxiety, and your use of social media may increase if you feel like you're missing out on something. FOMO may make you pick up your phone frequently to check for changes or compulsively respond to every alert, even if doing so will result in driving recklessly, sleeping less at night, or preferring social media activity over in-person interactions. About 10% of teens on social media report being bullied, and many other users experience offensive comments. X (formerly Twitter) and other social media platforms can serve as hubs for the spread of damaging rumours, lies, and abuse that can cause long-lasting emotional scars. Social media users are at risk being stalked, stealing their identities, getting attacked personally and misusing their information. Users are typically at fault since they reveal data that shouldn't be made public. Confusion arises from misconceptions about the differences between an online profile's private and public spaces.

Social Media: Boon or Bane

As the case with any gadget, one should learn to use social media with utmost care without getting addicted to it. If not, it will have a bad effect on one's mental and physical health. Fixing a time limit for daily usage and strictly adhering to it will help greatly to overcome addiction. Also, one should know what to post and what not to as leakage of sensitive information can cause significant damages to one's personal and professional lives. So, let us all use social media responsibly and make this world a better place to live in.
